

Fuelling instructions

Procedure

To refuel your company vehicle, you have one or more fuel cards. The card is personal and may only be used to refuel company vehicles. Prevent theft and/or misuse. Keep the card with you and never store the PIN code together with the card.

Because prices may change, monthly fuelling instructions are provided via Tengio.

These instructions indicate where it is best to refuel.

When new fuelling instructions are issued, the previous fuelling instructions expire.

Monitor these communications closely.

The route you follow and the amount of fuel in the tank determine when, where and how much you need to refuel.

Sometimes you may need to deviate slightly from the shortest route to save costs.

Sometimes you may fill the tank completely, but you may also regularly be permitted to refuel only a specific quantity, allowing you to reach another filling station where fuel is cheaper.

Always consult your planner about this and state how much fuel remains in your tank, so that the planner can provide appropriate fuelling instructions.

The fuelling stations are displayed in the navigation module of the Trimble onboard computer.

